

I am in support of video mail. I use video relay interpreting extensively in my work and such a service will make me even more accessible to my consumers. Video mail is certainly the equivalent of voice mail, therefore this is equal access. I fully support and expect reimbursement for such services to those who provide VRS.

Sincerely yours,

Daniel C. Johnson